MOUNTAINHOME

Based in Seattle, Washington, fine artist Mimi Kvinge brings her distinctive and ethereal artistic style to life in this dreamy mountain-cape print. The colors of the sky at dawn set the mood...let your imagination, and your love of man's best friend do the rest.

PACIFIC NORTH

In our second collaboration with acclaimed fine artist Travis Bone, we bring this 100% original stack of art elements based on the first dog...the wolf. We celebrate the Pacific Northwest, America's ancient inhabitants, and the freedom-loving canine that started it all.

LOKI

Loki may be a low-content wolf dog, but he's a high-content outdoor adventurer. He is in his element running around aspen groves and alpine lakes, or listening to the sounds of the desert in a remote, moonlit campsite. Our latest print with this handsome super-dog, LokiWest, brings together powerful imagery depicting Loki's adventures in an instantly iconic style.

With a twist on our first collaboration is a classic nubuck leather leash and collar series. Featuring the LokiWolf print inside a window on the collars, and glove-leather lining on the handles of the leashes, these unique designs will make a statement wherever they go.

ANTIGUA

Our good friends at Nena & Co. have tapped into the heritage of their Central American roots, combining classic, hand-made textiles with contemporary bag and accessories design to build an amazing, premium, and highly coveted brand. Together we've created the Antigua Collection to combine their signature aesthetic and our renowned product quality while bringing something amazing to discerning dog owners around the globe.

Both Nena & Co. and Wolfgang Man & Beast are committed to giving back to causes that matter to us. A portion of proceeds from the Antigua Collection will be donated to BriteBlue.org, a non-profit organization which provides 100% of its donations to scholarship funds for kids throughout Guatemala to help them stay in school from elementary grades through college. Unlike physical things that these kids could receive from a charity, an education will never break and it can never be taken away from them.

OverLand

NEW

All week we work our tails off so that we can get out in the dirt on weekends. This homage to dusty trails, a forest canopy, campfires, and starry nights reminds us to get outside with our furry friends and explore the great outdoors, and to stop looking at our stupid phones!

PledgeAllegiance

Call us patriotic fools, but we love the red, white and blue...and black. We like to stir the pot on the combos that we grew up with, especially the classics. This stars-and-stripes mash up is a celebration of liberty.

FarWest

This artwork is derived from a deep appreciation for the ancient and still vital original inhabitants of this great, promised land. Bold geometric stripes, blocks and patterns, plus sunrise-yellow and sky-blue color pops intertwine with rich, muted earth tones for an amazing and dynamic visual effect. Connect them to your tail-wagging coplots and watch their spirits soar.

StreetLogic

Sometimes to stir things up a bit you have to slam a few seemingly disparate design elements together and hope to catch lightning in a bottle. For StreetLogic we mixed a classic disruptive pattern (camouflage) with a variety of exotic tropical flowers and cracked the urban/outdoor code in the process. Dogs are diggin' the camo aloha!

DayDream

Forget the flea dips, the barking at the mailman, and the occasional accident, having a dog adds a massive amount of joy to life. This dreamy print brings together elements of photography, watercolors and good, old-fashioned computer graphics with an ethereal result. Your dog and you are living in a magical dream.

NativeLines

Native Americans are known as the original inhabitants of this land, but few know that through their textile design, they are also some of the earliest graphic designers...many of the patterns they developed are alive and well in their culture today and continue to influence the world. This print is a modern twist on an ancient and eternal graphic design.

All Wolfgang harnesses are designed to offer the most secure and comfortable fit, while being extremely easy to use. Once adjusted, doggie steps into the leg openings and the harness closes with a single, super strong buckle. Attach a leash to the two welded steel D-rings and you're off! On top of all that, they look rad!
